

Answer is Bisphosphonates induced fracture.

Patient who are on long term therapy with bisphosphonates for osteoporosis without 'drug holiday' can develop transfer fractures of shaft of femur.

Trivial trauma or osteoporosis per se will have fracture neck femur more often than shaft

Last modified: 12:37